Consulting firm for freeway picked

By DON GREEN
Staff Writer

A team of consultants has tentatively been selected to conduct a study aimed at making the Foothill Freeway a reality.

Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade and Douglas Inc. was chosen last week by a selection committee of the Route 30 Corridor Group as the main consulting firm to draft preliminary design and financial plans for the freeway.

The firm is seeking $165,000 for the study, but its price and scope of work are still subject to the corridor group's review.

Local officials on the corridor group also continued to be optimistic that the California Transportation Commission will grant an extension they are seeking on a Dec. 31 deadline for having a financial plan in place. The commission will consider the request Thursday and Friday in Costa Mesa.

Mayor Jon Mikels of Rancho Cucamonga, chairman of the corridor group, said the extension should be "fairly routine." While commission Chairman Ivan Hinderaker has made no formal commitment, "we've done our homework," Mikels said, referring to a meeting with Hinderaker.

The selection of Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade and Douglas Inc. still has to be ratified by the full Route 30 Corridor Group, but Mikels said that approval is very likely. He noted that the consulting team was the unanimous choice of the elected officials representing five corridor cities and the city engineers and other technical staff taking part in the selection.

That firm, which has an office in Orange County, would be joined by three other consultants. They are Robert J. Harmon and Associates, a firm based in Washington, D.C.; Arthur Bauer and Associates in Sacramento and Al Hollinden, a professor of transportation studies at the University of California, Riverside, and former chairman of the Orange County Transportation Commission.

The Parsons group won out over a proposal spearheaded by Angus McDonald and Associates of Berkeley in interviews last week. McDonald has already played one key role in the history of the long-delayed freeway.

He was the major consultant in the study presented to the state commission in 1980 that recommended keeping the freeway extension from La Verne to San Bernardino in the state's highway plans. The study also recommended a share of local government funding and a system of roadways scaled down from a full freeway east of Upland or Rancho Cucamonga.

Mikels said that Hollinden was one of the strongest assets for the Parsons group in its proposal. In addition to his other credentials, Hollinden is a former mayor and councilman in Orange County and served as chairman of the transportation committee of the California League of Cities, Mikels said.

Hollinden would be assigned to building a consensus among the various governmental entities along the corridor — a task Mikels called the "toughest nut to crack in the whole thing."

He pointed out that seven cities, two counties, two county transportation commissions and the state Transportation Commission will have a say in the freeway design and financing.

Upland City Engineer Fred Blanchard, another member of the corridor group, agreed, saying, "The key word is consensus."

Arthur Bauer would be in charge of helping the cities and San Bernardino and Los Angeles counties come to grips with paying a share of the construction costs, Mikels said. Those costs have been estimated at anywhere from $81 million to $224 million, depending on the type of road system built.

In addition to intragovernmental coordination, local funding arrangements tailored for each community and preliminary engineering, Mikels said that the Parsons group would draft a plan of action to put the needed steps in proper sequence to make the overall planning work.

Still to be hammered out are the details for distributing costs among local governments to pay for the study. The corridor group is working with a formula based on population, freeway miles and number of lanes in each city.

Cecilia Valdez is selling the famed Christmas House built in 1904.

Famed Christmas House for sale to highest bidder

By JIM MARXEN
Staff Writer

Rancho Cucamonga's famed Christmas House is up for sale.

Should all go as planned, a court-ordered sale will give the 78-year-old home in Rancho Cucamonga it's fourth private owner by the end of the year.

Sealed bids are being accepted by San Bernardino Superior Court until Dec. 15 and a sale is expected the next day when bids are opened.

Minimum bid is $200,000.

The pending sale is a mixed blessing for current owner Cecilia Valdez who, along with her husband, John Morrison purchased the home along Archibald Avenue in 1978.

The two divorced and gave up hopes of renovating the structure.

In their four years of ownership, however, more than $70,000 in renovation work was completed, Valdez said.

The couple installed new wiring, air conditioning and heating systems, stripped wallpaper, added a new roof and shored up the three-storied structure's chimneys.

Known for its red and green stained glass windows (hence the name Christmas House), the imposing late-Victorian period home sports peaked roofs, carved fireplace mantles, beveled glass windows, a massive redwood staircase and a spectacular view of the San Gabriel Mountains.

Although its name suggests a more wintery environment, the Christmas House is definitely in a Southern Californian setting — it is surrounded by grape vines, a small citrus grove and towering palm trees.

The home was built in 1904 by H.D. Cousins, whose initials are carved into a downstairs fireplace mantle.

Cousins, who had been in the maritime trade, left a sailor's imprint on the home. The upstairs bathroom has a porthole window and the front porch is shaped like the bridge of a boat.

Cousins sold to John Whitson, whose family lived in the Christmas House until 1974.

The San Bernardino Museum Assoc. acquired the home from a developer who built a tract of homes surrounding the Christmas House.

Association administrator Gerald Smith said there were once hopes of converting the house into a museum.

"What happened was that with the passage of Proposition 13 (in 1978) funding dried up for cities and counties," he said.

Valley building slumps as recession continues

By BRUCE THORNTON
Staff Writer

This year's building activity in West Valley cities, severely curtailed by the recession, continued to lag behind construction figures recorded in 1981, October figures from city building departments showed.

One of the reasons for the area's building slump is weakness in housing construction.

In six West Valley cities during October, permits were issued for construction of only 12 homes — nine in Ontario, two in Fontana and one in Rancho Cucamonga.

Valuation of the nine in Ontario amounted to $603,630. The two in Fontana were valued at $160,924 and Rancho Cucamonga's was $97,726.

Byron Ely, Ontario's chief building official, said this is "kind of a funny period. The experts are saying we're going to see some increase in housing starts but I think the real determining factor will be the mortgage rate and how many people will be able able to qualify for loans. The demand for housing is strong but people can't qualify for loans. That's what I hear from the major builders."

As for valuation of permits, the Ontario Building Department issued permits in October valued at a total of $2,365,815, compared with $3,504,930 in the same month last year.

The 1982 10-month total amounted to $56,476,389, more than $7 million short of last year's $63,887,800 for the comparable period.

Rancho Cucamonga's October figures plummeted to $1,825,297 from $8,346,268 last year. The city's comparative 10-month figures were $20,879,888 this year and $35,800,090 in 1981.

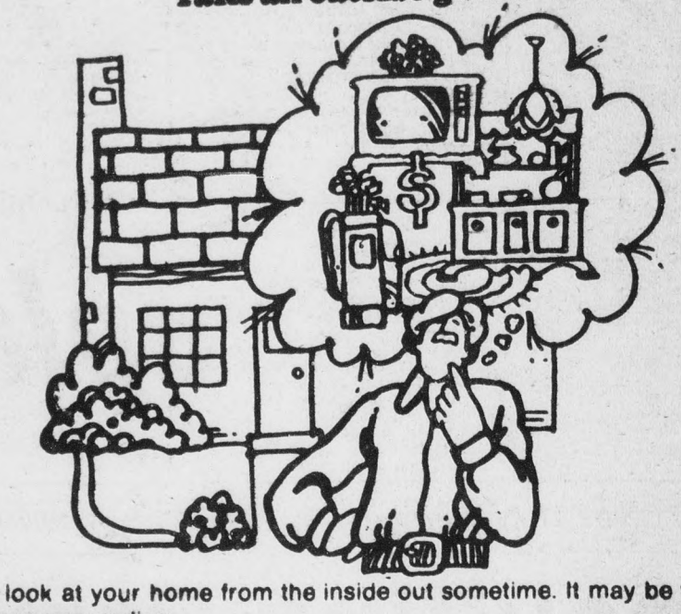

Upland's October figure of $503,119 raised this year's 10-month total to $33,360,162. These figures compare with $1,111,779 in October 1981 and $36,069,175 for January through October.

In Chino, last month's building permit valuation amounted to $505,199, declining from $1,338,527 in 1981. Differing from the other cities, Chino showed an increase in permit valuation over the 10-month periods, with $19,917,621 in 1981 and $21,307,934 this year.

Montclair's October total amounted to $283,709 compared with $279,252 in October 1981.

Fontana's comparative October totals amounted to $468,154 this year and $352,217 last year. The 10-month 1982 total amounted to $8,336,419, compared with $27,309,976 during the same period last year.

What's your home worth?
Take an outside guess!

Take a look at your home from the inside out sometime. It may be worth a lot more than you realize.
After all, your home is your most important investment. It represents your hard work. So it makes good sense to protect it properly.
Yet, with inflation pushing up construction and repair costs, and rising theft occurrence...many homeowners do not have insurance that's adequate or comprehensive enough.
To be sure your home is adequately protected, come see us about a Commercial Union homeowners plan. We can design one to adequately protect your house and all the things that make it uniquely your home.

Utilities offer aid for needy

Two Southern California utilities jointly announced they are establishing a potential $5 million fund to assist low-income customers who can't pay their energy bills this winter.

Southern California Gas Co. and Southern California Edison Co. reported that up to $3 million will be made available to help low-income customers, effective in December.

Both companies will make $500,000 available to the program, and an additional $1 each to match voluntary contributions from their customers. The program won't affect gas or electricity rates, according to William R. Gould, chairman and chief executive officer of SCE, and Robert M. McIntyre, gas company president.

The companys' matching funds would be used to match contributions from the public on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

"SCE believes this matching fund program and the additional contriubtions will help supplement present sources of government aid to the needy and be of help to customers," Gould said. "We wish to help those customers who, through no fault of their own, find themselves unable to pay their energy bills."

"Southern California Gas Co. recognizes the impact of rapidly increasing energy prices and a faltering economy on the ability of those of our customers on low and fixed incomes to pay their utility bills," McIntyre said. "We're particularly concerned in this respect about the elderly and handicapped."

The companies will arrange to have the funds distributed through one or more local charitable organizations, yet to be determined.

Both utilities previously announced other programs to help the needy manage energy problems. The programs include rebates and low-interest loans for conservation and weatherization measures, special billing procedures and a level-pay plan which permits high winter gas bills to be averaged out with lower summertime bills and paid monthly throughout the year.

Scouts raise more than $35,000

The Old Baldy Council of the Boy Scouts of America raised more than $35,000 Saturday with its day-long Scout-O-Rama at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds, Chairman Harry Gifford said.

The money was raised at the rate of $2 for each family passing through the turnstiles, Gifford added.

Scout-O-Rama is an annual event conducted across the United States. It is an opportunity for Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts to demonstrate their skills in the 21 merit badge categories. They manned 180 display booths on the fairgrounds.

More than 1,000 scouts participated in the event. They came from the council's district which stretches roughly from Diamond Bar to Fontana.

Several mayors of valley communities attended the event. They included Adrian Wright of Pomona, Ed Aleks of San Dimas, Harvey Holden of Walnut, Jon Mikles of Rancho Cucamona, Nathan Simon of Fontana and Homer Briggs, mayor pro tem of Ontario.

What to do when you're hit by a big gas bill.

Unfortunately, gas rates are going up.

On top of that, the forecast is for a cold winter.

So even if you've insulated and kept your thermostat at 68 degrees, you're going to be hit with a bigger gas bill.

But we can help you avoid getting hit so hard in the future.

After you pick yourself up, start looking for other ways to save gas. Like weatherstripping and caulking. Installing a low-flow showerhead. And wrapping your water heater in an insulation blanket.

Then call the Gas Company for even more gas-saving tips.

Our Conservation Hotline number is 800-352-4124.

Please give us a call. We want to help you stay on your feet.

Did you receive your tax refund?

The Internal Revenue Service is looking for 6,811 people in Southern California it owes money to this year. Undelivered refund checks totaling more than $3.2 million were returned to the IRS by the post office and are waiting to be claimed.

The largest refund check returned was for $126,323. The average amount unclaimed was $477.

Many checks became undeliverable when taxpayers moved and failed to leave a forwarding address with their local post office. An incorrect or incomplete address might also cause a check to be returned.

Taxpayers who filed on time and still have not received their 1981 refund checks should contact the IRS.

A Public Service Announcement about over-the-counter medicines.

from
Dr. Arthur H. Hayes
Commissioner,
U.S. Food & Drug Administration

In recent days, we've all been shocked by criminal tampering with the medicines on our store shelves. Innocent products like Tylenol—products that are intended to help—have been used to hurt.

Government and industry are working together to provide packaging to lessen the chances that this sort of thing will happen again—either to the people of Chicago or to people anywhere in the country.

But we can't guarantee protection against everything that a sick mind might think of. You must help. When you buy medicines—or any product—be sure boxes are not opened or damaged. Look at seals or wrappings to make certain they're not torn. And, when you get home, check the product inside the package for signs of tampering. And alert your children to this problem, too.

We don't have to do without any of the medicines that make our lives more comfortable. But we can use a little extra care. That's a good rule anytime.

Presented as a public service by the Food and Drug Administration.

Volunteers serve holiday dinner to the lonely, needy

The lonely and needy in Pomona and surrounding communities have been served a traditional Thanksgiving feast since 1950 by a group of church women guided by Lorene Shawnee.

It all began, Mrs. Shawnee said, in Tulsa, Okla., when she shared turkey and all the trimmings with a family whose home had been destroyed by fire.

"I looked around and saw so many going hungry and others with no place to go. During a church service the spirit of the Lord told me to do something about it," she added.

Prepared by "caring hands and loving hearts," the feast this year will be served at the Pentecostal Church of God in Christ from noon to 3 p.m., Mrs. Shawnee said.

There are no restrictions. All who enjoy good food and fellowship are invited to share the turkey and dressing, ham and sweet potatoes, green beans, salads and pumpkin pies prepared by Mrs. Shawnee, president of the Community Charity Club, and her volunteers.

"Oh, I couldn't do it all myself," the woman said in a quiet voice. Among the most faithful volunteers and contributors, she added, are Ophelia Batts, Nora Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Reason, Mr. and Mrs. Don Faust, Freddie Fields, Elder and Mrs. Leon Glaster, Mrs. Austin Fellenbaum and Roland Hollinger.

Donations of food and money are always needed, Mrs. Shawnee said. Checks may be sent to the Community Charity Club, Box 617, Pomona, 91766. For more information, persons may call 620-1538.

Mrs. Shawnee expects volunteers will dish up their 3,000th meal this Thanksgiving Day. About 100 persons have been served each year for the past 31 years, she estimated.

Mrs. Shawnee estimates she has served some 480 turkeys and 200 hams to persons who otherwise may have had nothing to celebrate on Thanksgiving.

There have been countless pies, cakes and cobblers baked to top off the feast, she said.

A person who "loves to cook," Mrs. Shawnee will stuff and roast turkeys all through Thanksgiving Eve. Tables will be decorated and meals ready by noon Thanksgiving Day for "oldtimers" and "newcomers" expected to share the meal.

In the past, meals have been delivered to shut-ins. That service is no longer available because of high gasoline prices. However, people may send for meals which can be picked up at the church, Mrs. Shawnee said.

"The Lord willing," Mrs. Shawnee will be around next year for the 33rd annual dinner. A woman who has no family nearby, she said she will spend "the rest of my days doing for others."
